Book News

January 08

Work on the second book for the Bo'Glin series is underway and will be ready by Anime North. In this installment, we are introduced to some rather important people from Lady Qu'Tee's past!

ALSO, in the 08, everyone will get to see the artistic efforts of Martine Larouche as she launches Book One of the Chronicles of Shadow Force AND a new game, Bo'Glin: Shadow Force Edition. Both products will be ready by Anime North.

Game News

January 08

Bo'Glin: Alpha Edition, the game that started everything will soon have a new companion to keep it company as a new series begins its launch.

For at this year's Anime North, Bo'Glin: Shadow Force Edition will be ready for the waiting public. It will be compatible with the previous game OR as a stand alone.

Awareness

January 08

Do you have a website that needs exposure? Do you know of an amazing/humorous/needs to be seen to be believed online comic? Tell me about it!

If it is yours, join my banner exchange. Banners can be found on my links page on my website.

CUT! News...

January 08

The online comic known as CUT! will continue onward in the 08 and soon will have a new influx of characters joining the cast as the people from the Shadow Force projects enter the equation.

The updates for the comic will be at least twice a month and will be a parody of how the people in the Jack and Pookie Universe REALLY are!

Forum News

January 08

For those who are curious about commissions I am hunting for, this is where I will be posting that information, as hunting for people can be so tiring.

This is also a place where people can talk about the products made by Jack and Pookie Publishing OR any of the people associated with Jack and Pookie who may be online.

Convention Updates

January 08

The big convention on the distant horizon will of course be Anime North, BUT other smaller conventions may pop up. IF you know of an anime and or gaming convention that you believe Jack and Pookie could stand out, please let us know!

NOTE: as I am not a BIG publisher, just inform me of Conventions near the Ontario/Quebec area please.

Contest NEWS!

January 08

New year, new products, new contest! Starting in January, the Jacked Up Image Contest will OFFICIALLY begin!

Rules for the contest will be posted on the website, but the quick summary of it and how it will differ from the previous contest will be as follows...

Find a character, ally, villain OR image from the website, from the books, AND or from the game and imbue it with intensity, so that ANYONE that sees it, will feel it!

How you the artist opts to do so, is completely up to you. With each entry, have a brief description of the piece, a link to any online galleries you may have, and if you have characters NOT from the Jack and Pookie Universe involved, who set characters are and where they are from!

One entry per person only! If you are choosing to submit multiple entries, only ONE can be chosen, A.K.A. the best of the best. People caught trying to cheat, will be banned from any future contests...so please, don't. It isn't worth it...

The judging will be done by me, Rich known as Jack, Craig, the Ninja Bunny Master, and the 1st place winner from the Pookified Pics Contest Kaitoiscool (who is hoping to get a few talented artists involved) This time around, there will not be a 1st prize, 2nd prize and so forth. This time, 1st place = 1st pick of the prizes!

Winners will be chosen on the last day of Anime North. There will be 4 prizes to be won. We look forward to seeing what Jacked Up means to you!
